Corporate Finalist RoundTower Technologies

RoundTower Technologies provides end-to-end data center solutions to customers ranging from middle market companies to Fortune 500 organizations. RoundTower utilizes consulting methodologies that are refined by decades of experience across multiple disciplines. Through purchase assistance, consulting, and services, RoundTower transcends the barriers between legacy technology silos and consistently delivers premium values to its clients.

RoundTower enables its customers to drive positive business outcomes by becoming more efficient through the use of technology. Their experienced, highly trained and certified engineers have proven knowledge in every major category of IT, including: storage; migrations and data protection; routing; switching and load balancing; computing; virtualization; operating systems and applications; voice and communications; monitoring; automation; and others.

The RoundTower customer experience is perhaps its most important offering and customers feel the difference from the moment they engage RoundTower. They begin by asking the right questions about its customer's history, technology, and business goals. RoundTower takes the time to understand its customer's IT environment, document its strengths and weaknesses, and validate whether it is meeting its customer's present and estimated future needs.
